About This Catalog

The Slavic Studies Catalog of ProQuest microforms contains approximately 90 research collections and over 260 serials. Inside you will find titles related to Art, Music, Theater, Women's Studies, Literature and much more. This catalog also contains information on obtaining Dissertations on Slavic Studies.

This catalog would be of particular interest to researchers in the fields of Slavic, Russian, Eurasian, Eastern European, Central Asian and International Studies; Political Science; Russian, Slavic and German Languages; and Literature.

One pivotal collection from the catalog is, Archives of the Soviet Communist Party and Soviet State. This collection contains approximately 25 million sheets of Russian archival documentation. For libraries looking to enhance their serials on microform, Argumenty i fakty, from Russia would make an excellent addition to any library. Argumenty i fakty is a weekly newspaper concentrated on major events in Russia. The paper also deals with local economics, politics and entertainment.

This preface provides a glimpse into the contents of the Slavic Studies Catalog of ProQuest microforms. Feel free to browse through our titles, or if you are looking for a particular research collection, please consult the index in the back. If you have any questions regarding any of our titles, please contact your UMI representative at umisalesinfo@proquest.com, 800.521.0600 ext. 2793 or 734.761.4700 ext. 2793.

If you would like additional copies of this or any of our ProQuest Microform Catalogs, you may either make photocopies of the catalogs or contact your UMI representative to have printed copies mailed directly to you.

The Advantages of Microform

Despite the continually developing array of digital technologies—and sometimes because of it—information professionals at libraries and universities worldwide still rely on microform. They know it is an archival medium that will meet the needs of researchers for years to come. Microform provides many advantages including:

- New Viewer/Scanners - Images can now be easily sent to remote locations using microform viewer/scanners, which link to your computer workstations, letting you view and print articles or digitize and transmit them electronically (within Fair Use guidelines). This approach combines the unparalleled preservation and storage benefits of microform with the speed and ease of electronic access.
- Special Collections - Microform is the answer if you need hard-to-find or specialty resources. Many older newspapers and periodicals are available only in microform, and it gives your users access to complete page images from historical titles—often from the first issue forward.
- Space Savings - Microform lets you store an extensive collection of complete article images in a small amount of space. Microform takes up less than one-tenth the area of bound copies of newspapers and periodicals.
- Ownership - There is no upkeep or access fees. It uses stable, proven technology you already have, with no need for new workstations or continual software upgrades.
- Clarity and Accuracy - Microform is the answer if you need cover-to-cover clarity and accuracy. Full-image articles are essential to getting the full story.
- Complete Collection - Microform usually is the best solution if you need a complete collection fast. Maybe you're seeking accreditation or even rebuilding after a disaster. An extensive, customized collection of retrospective and current microform titles will meet the needs of your researchers quickly and efficiently.
- Support for Specialized Studies - A compact collection in microform will meet specialized research needs and still leave plenty of resources for the rest of your population. Many libraries also use microform as an added point of access for content that is most in demand.
- Durability - archived properly, it can last for generations, and there is no degradation of images.
- ProQuest Quality - ProQuest's microform images are taken directly from the original printed pages, so you always get the clarity of first-generation copies.

ProQuest Microform is the answer because we've been producing it since 1938. We not only exceed industry standards, we set them. Our microform products include thousands of newspapers and periodicals, and hundreds of research collections, many of which are not available from any other source.

The National Security Archive

1939 - Present

'All of us who have a professional interest in contemporary security and foreign policy issues can only rejoice at the appearance of this new institutional resource.'

~ Gary Sick, Adjunct Professor of Middle East Politics, Columbia University

Previously classified documents on major foreign policy issues from the State Department and other federal agencies arranged by subject set on microfiche. For several years the National Security Archive, a non-profit research institute, has been working to locate, have declassified, organize and index government documents on key areas of U.S. policymaking. Through systematic document searching, sophisticated use of the Freedom of Information Act and computer based cataloging, the Archive has developed an unmatched collection of primary materials indispensable for research and public debate.

- The Kissinger Transcripts: A Verbatim Record U.S. Diplomacy, 1969-1977

As national security adviser (1969-1975) and secretary of state (1973-1977), Henry A. Kissinger played a central, and sometimes dominating, role in shaping U.S. foreign and military policy during the presidential administrations of Richard Nixon and Gerald Ford. In this role Kissinger helped prosecute as well as negotiate an end to the Vietnam War; he carried out secret diplomacy to advance détente with the Soviet Union and rapprochement with China. He pressed for covert operations to destroy the Allende regime in Chile, and implemented the tilt to Pakistan during the 1971 South Asia Crisis. In later years he presided over U.S. policy during the October 1973 Middle East war soon after which he employed a "Shuttle Diplomacy" to contain the Middle East crisis. These are only a few of the prominent political events in which he played a major role. Some three quarters of the 2,163 declassified documents in this collection were produced by Kissinger and his assistants on the National Security Council Staff. Even after Kissinger became Secretary of State, he relied on the NSC system for keeping meeting records, especially of the most sensitive matters such as relations with Beijing and Moscow, Middle East diplomacy, or meetings with the president. For those events when he did not rely on the NSC staff to record a meeting, he depended on a State Department country desk director or more senior officials, such as deputy or assistant secretaries of state, to prepare the 'memcons'. A noteworthy feature of the records of Kissinger's memcons is that they are literally verbatim records of the meetings.

Soviet Biographic Archive

1954 - 1985

The Soviet Biographic Archive is the largest and most important source of biographical information on personalities in the public and political life of the Soviet Union in the post-war period. A working clippings file compiled and kept current for the benefit of the staff of Radio Free Europe-Radio Liberty Inc., the 'Red Archive' covers a vast range of public figures from Party and State officials, members of the security apparatus and military personnel to directors of enterprises, chairmen of kolkhozes and prominent scientists, artists and journalists. With one million clippings from over 35 newspapers and magazines and abstracts on over 50,000 people, the Archive is an invaluable source of information for governmental and international organizations, scientific and academic institutions, the media and individual researchers. Now available on microfiche, it is regarded as one of the single most important reference works in any library with a serious interest in Soviet Studies.

Theater

Programs of the Russian Imperial Theaters (from the Russian National Library, St. Petersburg)

1809, 1813-1831, 1847 & 1850-1880

In 1756 Elizaveta Petrovna (Daughter of Peter I) decreed that the "Russian Theater" should be established. Ten years later, in 1766, Catherine II created a governing structure for the organization (now called the "Imperial Theaters") under the directorship of I.P. Elagin. By the mid-1800s, the most important theaters in St. Petersburg were the Bol'shoi (later called the Mariinskii), Aleksandrinskii and Mikhailovskii theaters and the most important theaters in Moscow were the Bol'shoi and Malyi theaters. In 1842 all five of these theaters were officially joined together as the "Russian Imperial Theaters". The most famous and talented performers in Russia regularly appeared on their stages and these theaters became an integral part of the Russian cultural milieu. We are pleased to announce the publication of microfilms of the programs of the Russian Imperial Theaters from the years 1809, 1813-1831, 1847 and 1850-1880. These programs, currently part of the collection of the Russian National Library in St. Petersburg, provide important documentation of 70 years of Russian performing arts and will interest all researchers in 19th century Russian cultural history.

- Rukopisi Verkhokam'ia (Manuscripts of Upper Kamah, 15th-20th Centuries), 1401-2000

These manuscripts are representative of the culture of the Russian people who first settled the area of Upper Kamah in the 16th century and whose migrations greatly increased in the 17th century. These people, mainly Old Believers, were fleeing church reforms and were looking for a place where they were able to continue observing their rituals and traditions. A part of the Old Believers population were forbidden to use books written after the Nikonian Reform. Thus they used manuscripts instead, until the 20th century. These manuscripts, although mostly religious in nature, are also reflective of the lives and ideas of the Old Believers.

Card Catalog of Russian Personalities (B.L. Modzalevskii Collection) from the Manuscript Department of the Institute of Russian Literature of the Russian Academy of Science (Pushkinskii Dom)

1700 - 1950

The collection of biographical materials compiled by the famous Russian literary scholar and bibliographer B.L. Modzalevskii (1874-1928) and his son includes material from the 18th to the early 20th century. It consists of more than 165,000 handwritten cards, organized in alphabetical order by name, reflecting little-known facts and background material relating to nearly 100,000 influential people in Russian art and society. Besides celebrities, a large number of cards pertain to people who were never well known, but whose contribution to the development of Russian culture was essential.

Card Catalog of the Department of the Literature of the Nationalities of the Former Soviet Union, from the National Library of Russia, St. Petersburg

The Department of the Literature of the Nationalities of the FSU holds the largest collection in the world of published materials of the numerous nationalities of the FSU. The collection, begun more than two centuries ago, today contains more than 1.5 million items, including first editions of books and periodicals in nearly 90 languages. The collection also contains publications in the same languages printed all over the world, but mainly in Western Europe. Among those are books in Armenian and Georgian from the 17th and 18th centuries published in Rome, Paris, Amsterdam, Constantinople and Venice. All these works have been cataloged in the card file which is now available on microfiche. The biggest sections are in the Armenian, Uzbek, Georgian and Azerbaijani languages. Following are the languages of the various nationalities in which the books and periodicals were written and which comprise this card catalog:

Card Catalog of the Former Library of the Russkii zagranichnyi istoricheskii arkhiv (RZIA)

The card catalog of the former library of the Prague Archive of the Slovanská knihovna (see below) on microfiche. The RZIA, one of the most important institutions to Russian emigration, created a library that collected books, periodicals and newspapers from emigre' communities around the world and from the USSR. The 100,000 cards of this catalog are extremely descriptive and contain extensive notes about the collection.

Card Catalog of the Slavic Collection of the Library of the Academy of Sciences (BAN)

1500 - 1930

The Slavic Collection of the Biblioteka Akademii Nauk (BAN) was organized in 1882 and grew until 1930, after which Slavic literature was cataloged in the general catalog. However, the original catalog was preserved. It is divided into 12 sections, primarily by language. All Slavic languages are included except Russian. Works are alphabetical by author. An "All-Slav" section includes a number of early imprints in Latin, German and Czech. Other sections: Ukrainian, Byelorussian, Bulgarian, Serbo-Croatian and Slovenian (in 3 parts), Polish (divided between periodicals and books), Czech-Slovak, Sorbian (Lusatian), Latvian, Lithuanian. 1996.

Card Catalog of the Slavonic Collection of the Library of the National Museum of the Czech Republic

1500 - 1900

The collection of the Library of the National Museum is much older than those of the Národní knihovna, founded by Clementinum in the late 16th century and of the Slovanská knihovna. This applies also to the library's Slavic holdings, which are especially strong on works from the 17th through 19th centuries and on materials from the southern and western Slavic countries, particularly the Balkans. Studies have revealed that 42% of the book titles and 33% of the periodicals in the Museum library were absent from the Slovanská knihovna. The titles unique to the Museum are especially rare. This catalog, with 117,000 cards, therefore makes an excellent complement to the catalog of the Slovanská knihovna.

Late 19th to Early 20th Century Central Asian Serials

1870 - 1932

The Nationalities Division of the Russian National Library maintains the world's largest collection of Central Asian newspapers. In an ongoing project - one expected to last several years - the most important papers from the Russian Imperial Period are being microfilmed. Coverage for most titles begins and ends in the 1910s, although some titles (Abdulquayum Nasyri's Quazan' Kalendary and Akmolinskiie Oblastnye Vedomosti, for example) offer coverage beginning as early as 1871. Coverage for Shark Iulduzi spans 1931-1991. Together, the titles represent a significant achievement in preserving Imperial Period information. The Central Asian Serials collection offers primary source materials written in Russian and in various languages of the nationalities of Central Asian republics of the Former Soviet Union (Tajik, Uzbek, Turkmen).

Napoléon, Sa Famille et Son Entourage: Documents du Musée Historique d'État, Moscou

1769 - 1850

A little-known but historically important collection of more than 2500 Napoleonic documents held in the archives of the State Historical Museum of Moscow is now being offered on microfilm. Many of these documents were scattered throughout the Museum's various collections; most of them had never been published. Now available are some 30 letters and documents in Napoléon's own hand or containing his signature, approximately 100 documents written or signed by Napoléon's own family members and more than 2400 documents from his military and political entourage. The documents now on microfilm come from collections originally assembled both by private collectors and institutions which acquired individual items from many sources. The two largest groups of documents come from the private collections of Count Grigorii Vladimirovich Orlov and the well-known art collector Petr Ivanovich Shchukin. The collection provides a more complete understanding of Napoléon, his time and his circle and is an important contribution to Napoleonic research.

Russian Academy of Sciences Library, St. Petersburg (BAN): Catalogue of Foreign Language Books and Periodicals to 1930

1714 - 1930

The Academy of Sciences Library (BAN) in St. Petersburg is the oldest state scientific library in Russia. Following its foundation in 1714 it incorporated the library of Peter the Great. The library was opened to readers in 1714 and in this regard has the distinction of preceding both the Bibliotheque National (1735) and the library of the British Museum (1753). BAN bought foreign books from the very beginning—a policy initiated by Peter the Great, with his interest in life abroad and vigorously followed since. This gives the catalogue of non-Russian holdings a special significance because it provides a complete record of foreign works present in Russia in the 18th and 19th centuries and immediately before and after the Revolution. There are, for instance, a surprisingly large number of US imprints from the beginning of this century including many US government documents. It is a truly international catalog, consisting of 241,000 cards recording titles of which the prevalent languages are English, French, German, Italian and Spanish. There is a supplementary catalogue of 8,400 cards relating to works damaged in the fire of 1988.

Jewish Sheet Music, Volume I

The Judaica Collection of the Vernadsky Library, rich in folksongs and musical scores, was a restricted archive during the Soviet period. The materials included in this collection are individual song sheets, as well as anthologies, collected during the 1920s and early 1930s. Folk classics, liturgical music, proletarian and revolutionary scores are all represented. Titles are in transliterated Ukrainian and Yiddish.

From the Vernadsky Library, Kiev, Ukraine; Includes printed catalog; Hard copy print out of the complete series is also available Kiev, Ukraine; In Transliterated Ukrainian & Yiddish

Jewish Yearbooks and Calendars

The microfiche collection Jewish Yearbooks and Calendars includes three kadima titles, which collectively span the years 1909-1919:

- Evreiskii kalendar Kadima na 5670-5673 (1909-1913) god (Vilna, pod redaktsiei Goldberga)
- Evreiskii izhegodnik Kadima na 1918-1919 god (Pod redaktsiei Goldberga. Izdatelstvo Kadima. Petersburg, 1918)
- Evreiskii ezhegodnik na 5662-5666 (1901-1906); 5668-5669 (1907-1909) Spravochnyi i literaturnyi al'manakh s illiustratsiiami. Izdanie Iosifa Lur'e. Petersburg.

Kadima are religious calendars of Jewish holidays and sacred days. The three kadima in this collection also offer a glimpse into the international context of Jews living in Vilnius and St. Petersburg, as they include immigration statistics, listings of Jewish serials all over the world (by country), as well as listings of Jewish institutions both in Russia and abroad. Also represented in the kadima are biographies, Jewish songs and advertisements. The title Evreiskii ezhegodnik na 5662-5666 (1901-1906); 5668-5669 (1907-1909) Spravochnyi I literaturnyi al'manakh s illiustratsiiami is a reference book for the Jewish household. Along with the religious calendar, there are also laws relating to the Jews in Russia and death notices. A good part of the yearbook was dedicated to publications of Jewish literary classics.

Pinkasim

1854 - 1903

Pinkasim were record books of various Jewish organizations in a particular town or village. The organizations generally covered by pinkasim included prayer groups, study groups, burial societies, societies that helped the sick, synagogues and occasionally guilds associated with synagogues. The pinkasim, usually in the form of ledger books, contained such information as membership history and the by-laws or statutes of societies. The three pinkasim in this collection are among only a few of their kind surviving from Eastern Europe, making them extremely important research tools for genealogists. They contain beautiful illustrations, as well as finely-rendered calligraphy. The text is largely Hebrew, with some sections in Yiddish. The pinkasim were on display at the Jewish Museum in New York from the Fall of 1994 to the Spring of 1995, as part of an exhibit covering the treasures of the Ansky Expedition. They have also been exhibited at the Israel Museum in Jerusalem.

- Havurah Bikur Holim (Zhabokrich) Pinkas. 5664 (1903/1904)
- Hevrah Linat ha-Tsedek be-Baranovki (Baranovka) Pinkas. 5664 (1903/1904)
- Havurah Mishnayot Meha-Kloz Deha-Rav Me-Apta de Mezbiz (Medzhibozh) Pinkas. 5664 (1854-1860)

Rare Periodicals and Books from the Żydowski Instytut Historyczny

1817 - 1950

Rare and previously unavailable serials

This collection offers 124 rare newspapers, periodicals and books on microfilm from the ŻIH archives. The publications date from 1817 to 1950 and cover all aspects of Jewish life from daily news and issues to theology, history, demographic information and more. A majority of the titles included in this collection have never before been filmed and were unavailable until now. And in many instances, the ŻIH holds the only known extant copies of these important publications. The publications are in German, Polish, Yiddish, Hebrew and English and were published in what is now known as Poland, Austria, Germany, Ukraine, Hungary, Turkey, Lithuania, Russia, Belarus and the Czech and Slovak Republics.

An invaluable resource for scholars

The publications reproduced in this collection contain a wealth of significant historical information about the Jewish communities of Poland and Eastern Europe. Overall, the collection is an outstanding resource for scholars in the fields of Jewish, Holocaust and Slavic studies, as well as Polish and European history. All libraries with significant holdings in these areas will find this collection invaluable.

About the ŻIH

The Żydowski Instytut Historyczny (Jewish Historical Institute), or ŻIH, is the oldest and largest institution devoted to the study of the history of the Jews in Poland. From its beginnings in 1881 it has grown to be a major repository of important cultural artifacts of the former Jewish communities of Poland and the adjacent regions. It employs a polyglot staff and houses a museum, library and archive that hold rare print and photographic artifacts that recall a lost world of Jewish life and culture. The Institute is adjacent to the former site of Warsaw's largest synagogue, which was destroyed by the Nazis in May 1943 as a gesture of "victory" over the Warsaw Ghetto uprising.

Special Collections – Russia

Archives of the Soviet Communist Party and Soviet State

The State Archival Service of the Russian Federation (Rosarkhiv), at Stanford University and Chadwyck-Healey concluded an agreement in April 1992 to microfilm the records and opisi (finding aids) of the Communist Party of the former Soviet Union, as well as other selected holdings of the State Archives. We are pleased to present to the library and scholarly communities the project catalogue, which lists microfilms produced by the project. The project had three components:

- The development of an archival and scholarly exchange program to benefit Russian studies
- The preservation of approximately 25 million sheets of archival documentation on microfilm
- The distribution of the microfilm for scholarly research

Rosarkhiv produced the microfilm with financial resources provided by the Hoover Institution. The microfilm was published by Rosarkhiv and the Hoover Institution and distributed by Chadwyck-Healey. Rosarkhiv and the Hoover Institution have established an Editorial Board of six scholars, which made the selection of materials for filming. Board members include three persons representing Rosarkhiv (Prof. Rudolf G. Pikhoia, Prof. Nikolai N. Pokrovskii and Col. Gen. Dmitri Volkogonov) and three scholars representing the Hoover Institution (Dr Robert Conquest, Dr John Dunlop and Prof. Terence Emmons). Professor Pikhoia, who is chairman of Rosarkhiv, also chaired the Editorial Board. Dr Jana Howlett, University lecturer in the Department of Slavonic Studies at Cambridge University, was the project consultant and serves as an ex officio member of the Editorial Board. The selection of materials for filming was based on two principal criteria.

First, the project gave priority to the records of the highest policy-making organs of the Communist Party. Second, the project filmed record series in their entirety, rather than disparate files or documents selected on the basis of subject content. The project was intended to enhance access to the newly opened Russian archives as well as to preserve them for future research. Complete sets of the microfilm were deposited with Rosarkhiv for use by scholars in Russia and at the Hoover Institution for use by scholars in the United States. In addition to this catalogue, a list of materials included in the project will be posted electronically with frequent updates on the Hoover Institution's World Wide Web server. The URL for the Hoover Institution is <http://hoover.stanford.edu/WWW/welcome.html>. The agreement also established an archival and scholarly exchange program. In exchange for microfilm of the former Communist Party archives, the Hoover Institution has made a commitment to give to Rosarkhiv a microfilm copy of all its Russian archival holdings. To the extent that resources permit, microfilms of the Communist Party archives were deposited at the U.S. Library of Congress and the Novosibirsk Regional State Archives. It is a pleasure to note that this entire undertaking was made possible by the timely and generous financial support of several major donors. We gratefully acknowledge these donors and extend to them - on behalf of all scholars who now and in the future will benefit from their generosity - our appreciation and thanks. They are: The Margaret W. and Herbert Hoover, Jr. Foundation, The Sarah Scaife Foundation, The David and Lucile Packard Foundation, The John M. Olin Foundation, The Jaquelin Hume Foundation and The Estelle Buel Simon Trust (Alice Phillips Rose, Trustee).

Business and City Directories from Russia and the USSR

1892 - 1940

These directories offer a broad picture of Russian society in an age of dynamic social and economic change. As Russia's modernization accelerated toward the end of the 19th and beginning of the 20th centuries, social identities were in flux as peasants moved to urban areas to join the burgeoning industrial labor force; scions of the traditional nobility were selling their increasingly impoverished estates to become members of the nascent professional middle class; and government bureaucrats began filling positions in newly created government organs. The city and business directories capture these phenomena in a unique way by detailing these social and demographic changes of new Russia in a public, commercial medium. The following directory collections are available:

No guide available; Alphabetical index by last name included in each volume

Russia; In Russian

2,722 fiche (Individual fiche may be purchased)

- Ves Sankt-Peterburg (All St. Petersburg), 1892-1940

For St. Petersburg, no volumes were published for 1918-1922 or for 1936-1938. The library's holdings are complete and also include the series Address Book of the City of St. Petersburg, 1892-1902. It was clearly the original on which the All Petersburgs were based. While not every person in St. Petersburg was listed, most were, including their professions. Furthermore, each volume includes an alphabetical index so one does not need to know the address in advance. Librarians, historians and demographers are likely to be familiar with Suvorin's directories, although, until now, virtually no library in the West has a complete run. All duplicate fiche are manufactured in the U.S. on silver halide film. Each volume lists houses according to districts and streets with names of owners and their professions. Local maps help bring the city to life for the researcher. The volumes also list all government offices and their employees. Searches for particular family lines or persons can be carried out using the last-name index, which also includes first name and patronymic.

Russia; In Russian

1,414 fiche (Individual fiche may be purchased)

- Vsia Moskva (All Moscow), 1875-1917

The collection covers 42 years and in most cases there is one volume per year (for 1895, 1896 and 1903 there are two volumes per year.) Nine of the volumes in the collection contain maps, with a total of 70 maps for 1903 and 1904 alone. These directories list names and addresses of all Moscow's inhabitants with their occupation and place of work; Lists of streets, with buildings and house-owners arranged by streets and police precincts; City plans, including special maps of theaters, circuses, etc; Lists of personnel in state, public and private institutions in Moscow; Churches and monasteries (with brief information on priests); Hospitals and personnel lists for each hospital; Practicing physicians arranged by specialization and location (street address); Lawyers, their assistants, architects and artists; and Factories, plants and companies in Moscow and its suburbs. The All Moscow directories are excellent genealogical resources for researchers, as well as for people trying to find information on family members who lived in the Russian Empire and later the Soviet Union. This collection is highly recommended for all libraries with Slavic, genealogy or general reference collections.

- Vsia Rossiia (All Russia) & Ves SSSR (All USSR), 1895-1931

Each volume contains lists of people who owned businesses - from large factories to small grocery stores - in cities and towns throughout the entire Russian Empire and later the Soviet Union. Some of the volumes are organized by guberniia, with general information about each guberniia in an introductory section, others by profession. Each volume includes a list of government officials and public institutions. The business directories, called Spravochnaia i adresnaia kniga (Reference and Address Book), combined with the city directories, are among the best genealogical sources for researchers, as well as for people trying to locate their families who lived in the Russian Empire and later the Soviet Union. As a large number of the names listed are Jewish, the directories should be of particular interest to Jewish families researching family origins. Each person is listed by his or her first name, last name and patronymic. There is a chapter for each guberniia. The first section of each chapter contains general information about the guberniia, including statistical data, names of the officials, etc. At the beginning of each directory, there is a list of government officials and public institutions for the whole country, including officials in foreign service. There is also a "Dictionary of Popular Practical Medicine and Hygiene." Most of the directories have advertisements for small businesses, which provide a vast amount of information about business practices of the time.

Diplomatic Correspondence of British Ministers to the Russian Court at St Petersburg

1704 - 1776

These documents, transcribed from originals in the British Museum and Public Record Office, provide a detailed and comprehensive record of diplomatic and commercial relations between the two nations. Over 9,000 pages of letters are reproduced on microfiche, mainly in English, their original language, with a few in French. The printed index, arranged in chronological order, gives the date and names of the correspondents for all 3,342 items as well as providing biographical information on each of the diplomats.

Forbidden Books from the Library of A. I. Ostroglazov from the State Historical Library

1905 - 1907

The Forbidden Books come from a private collection of A.I. Ostroglazov (1872-1908), who was the official censor for books in Moscow at the turn of the century. The majority of the books from this collection were originally published between 1905-1907. Throughout his career Ostroglazov kept a copy of each book which was supposed to be destroyed and marked on each one of them the following information: why, from whom and when the publication was confiscated and if the court order for its destruction existed.

Leaders of the Russian Revolution

1878 - 1952

The documents reproduced come from the Russian Centre for the Preservation and Study of Documents of Most Recent History (RTsKhIDNI), known until 1991 as the Central Party Archive of the Institute of Marxism-Leninism. Until August 1991 this Institute was under the control of the Central Committee of the Communist Party and was a research centre for Party members. Its archives, whose holdings were until recently restricted to the Institute's staff and highly placed members of the Soviet Communist Party, contain material on people active in the world Communist movement from its beginnings to 1952. The Russian material in these archives comes from several sources. The core of the collection came from the archives of ISTPART, the Department for the History of the Party formed in 1918 by the Central Committee of the Russian Communist Party (Bolsheviks). The ISTPART collection was supplemented by the personal archives of leading figures of the Russian Revolution, some donated, some confiscated, some transferred from local archives and from the current archive of the Central Committee. The following is included in the collection:

Nicolaevsky, Boris I. The Boris I Nicolaevsky Collection

1887 - 1986

When Boris I. Nicolaevsky (1887-1966) began his collection, he could not know how extensive or valuable it would become. As a young revolutionary in a repressive land, he sought a way to document the struggles and vision of a restless people. Today the collection contains hundreds of thousands of rare and valuable documents relating to one of the greatest political upheavals of all time - the Russian Revolution. The assemblage is universally regarded as one of the preeminent archival holdings in the world on modern Russian history. The Boris I. Nicolaevsky Collection includes editorial files of underground newspapers, such as The Sotsialisticheskii, personal papers of prominent figures such as Leon Trotsky, internal correspondence of the Soviet secret police prior to World War II and much more. Housed at the Hoover Institution on War, Revolution and Peace since 1963, The Boris I. Nicolaevsky Collection has been fully cataloged and accessible to scholars. Now UMI's microform edition reveals to scholars around the world the perspectives of the anarchists, the populists, the Socialist Revolutionary Party and the Russian Social Democratic Labor Party - as written during the 19th and 20th century Russian Revolutionary movements. For ease of access, The Boris I. Nicolaevsky Collection is organized into 280 subgroups, including the following topics:

- Personal Papers (144 subgroups) - documents the Russian Revolution through the personal writings of those who helped make the history, including:
  - Leon Trotsky (collection includes the only known drafts of his classic History of the Russian Revolution)
  - Iraklii Tsereteli
  - Paul Axelrod
  - Viktor Chernov
  - Ekaterina Breshko-Breshkovskaia ("Little Grandmother of the Russian Revolution")
  - Mikhail Bakun
  - Leonid Andreev
  - Ivan Bunin
  - Prince Petr Kropotkin
  - Many others
- Memoirs, Letters and Reports (81 topical subgroups) - includes a wide range of information about topics such as:
  - The life of Karl Marx
  - The condition of Jews in Russian society
  - The role of Freemasons in Russian history
  - Intelligence and secret police activities under tsarist and Soviet governments
  - Activities of the Duma
  - The Kronstadt rebellion of 1921
  - Forced labor, prisons and prison camps
  - The Vlasov movement during World War II
- Internal Records and/or Issuances of Organizations (39 subgroups) - through meeting minutes, leaflets, internal letters, statutes, reports and much more, this section presents the viewpoints and objectives of the following factions:
  - Social Democratic Labor Party (with particularly enlightening information about the Mensheviks)
  - Soiuz russkikh sotsial-demokratov
  - The Bund
  - Latvian Social Democratic Party
  - Socialist Revolutionary Party (PSR)
  - The tsarist Ministry of the Interior and the Soviet secret police
  - Many others
- Photographs, Politico-Satirical Journals and Bibliographical Materials (9 subgroups)
- Nicolaevsky's Personal Papers (5 subgroups)
- Personal Papers of Anna Bourguina, Nicolaevsky's Collaborator and Wife (1 subgroup)

Public Record Office: Foreign Office Registers and Indexes of Correspondence

1793 - 1919

The only means of access to the correspondence and dispatches of the Foreign Office is through the contemporary handwritten Registers in the Reference Room of the Public Record Office. The correspondents were statesmen, ambassadors, consuls, spies, British travellers abroad and foreign citizens from every part of the world. This consular reporting and intelligence gathering system provides what is often the only consistent series of reports in existence on the political and economic history of many countries. Three sets of Foreign Office Registers have been published on microfiche together with the contemporary indexes. Since documents listed in the Registers cannot be identified and retrieved without their Class List numbers the relevant Class List number has been added to each microfiche. Researchers are generally interested in the diplomatic correspondence with a particular country. The Registers and Indexes have been published in the following groups of countries.

Russian Futurism

1910 - 1916

The most complete collection of primary material on Russian Futurism before the Revolution ever made available in the original or in republished form. Though it was clear that the experiments in language and the visual arts pioneered by the Russian Futurists could offer a rich field of study to scholars of early 20th century Russian art and literature, the rarity of the original works made serious research extremely difficult. Publication of this microfiche collection of poetry, manifestoes, journals and miscellanies from the period 1910-1916 allows a more detailed evaluation of avant-garde writers and artists in the formative years of Russian Futurism than has ever been possible before. The majority of these 53 titles were reproduced from copies in two large private collections in England and France some of which are now in The British Library. Most of the others are from copies in other public and private collections in England and the United States.

Russian History and Culture

1828 - 1917

Inside the Soviet Union, Russian history prior to 1917 has been subject to censorship and reinterpretation. Were it not for the Helsinki University Library, an official depository of Russian books from 1828 to 1917, much of Russia's ancient and rich past might have been lost to students in the West. Now graduate researchers in Slavic studies, Russian history, politics, literature and culture have access to an outstanding collection of 5,000 scarce titles in the humanities and social sciences from Helsinki University Library's 300,000-volume Slavonic collection. Titles for this collection have been chosen by the staff of the Slavic and East European Department of the University of Illinois Library at Urbana-Champaign. Selections are cross-checked against such sources as Cyrillic Union Catalog, The Slavic Union Catalog and the National Register of Microform Masters to avoid duplicating materials already in North American libraries. The result is a collection of books previously unavailable in the United States and Canada. Russian History and Culture contains books in eight major categories:

- Russian Politics and Government - including a study of peasant self-government, a description of local peasant institutions and an examination of reforms in local and central government
- Russian Industry and Trade - containing valued resources such as A. Petrov's Chronicle of Russian Industry in 1843, P.A. Vikhliav's Agricultural Economy and Trade Among Peasant Populations (1908) and M.M. Vol'skii's Sketch of the History of the Grain Trade in the Novorossiisk Region from Antiquity to 1852
- Military History - with volumes on the Russo-Japanese war, military life during the Turkish War of 1877-78, as well as regimental histories from the reigns of the czars
- Literature - including collections of lyrics, literary almanacs and a study of the language in major works of Russian literature from the 11th to the 19th century
- Biographies, Memoirs and Histories - such as a biography of Grand Duke Peter Mikhailovich Volkonskii (1776-1852), Anna Ivanovna Volkova's Memoirs, Diaries and Articles (1913) and Nikolai Iraklievich Voronov's Memoirs of the Western Region (1907)
- Education - with works discussing questions of national education among "Old Believers," the Moscow Commercial College, secondary education in Kazin in the 18th century and national education in Voronezh province
- State and Law - covering such topics as the system of land tenure, statutes for various ranks of the municipal police and a history of criminal legislation
- Social Questions - including N.G. Voronov's Fundamentals of Sociology (1912), substantial coverage of the women's movement, Russian Jewry and public health

Stalin, Joseph V. The Works of Joseph V. Stalin

1901 - 1929

With fierce determination to industrialize Russia and promote communism, Joseph V. Stalin is considered one of the most powerful and ruthless rulers in world history. Now scholars worldwide can read the actual words of this 30-year dictator through UMI's comprehensive Works of Joseph V. Stalin. Available in microfiche and microfilm, this unparalleled collection includes 13 volumes of Stalin's speeches, personal writings and newspaper articles, as translated from Russian to English.

- Volumes I and II - cover the years of 1901 to 1913, a period of unrest for the young revolutionary who changed his last name from Dzhugashvili to Stalin, which means "steel." Scholars can read many of Stalin's personal writings from his nine years of exile in Siberia for plotting against Russian emperors and nobility.
- Volume III - presents information about the preparation for the Great October Socialist Revolution, when Russian revolutionaries overthrew the tsar in 1917. A wide range of newspaper articles from Pravda appear.
- Volume IV - covers the critical post- revolutionary years of 1917 to 1920. This volume includes Stalin's writings as the head of the new Bolshevik Party, which was renamed the Communist party at the end of World War I. Writings also reveal internal information about the civil war between the Bolshevik Red Army and the anti-Communist White Army.
- Volumes V, VI and VII - cover the years of 1921 to 1925, a time of economic rehabilitation for a land severely scarred by World War I and the Russian Civil War. These volumes shed light on the culmination of the Communist regime.
- Volumes VIII through XII - cover the years of 1926 to 1929, documenting Stalin's efforts toward socialist industrialization.
- Volume XIII - deals mainly with Russian agriculture and industrial development. Scholars can review notes about Stalin's Five-Year Plan to build factories, dams, railroads and roads and to collectivize small farms.

The Works of Joseph V. Stalin was originally compiled by the Marx-Engels- Lenin Institute of the Central Committee of the Communist Party of the Soviet Union.

Special Collections – Belarus

Belarusian Parliamentary Papers (Parlamentskie dokumenti Belarusi)

1990 - 1995

Minutes of the 12th Congressional Session of the Supreme Soviet of the Republic of Belarus. The work of the 12th Congressional Session closely reflected major political events in Belarus: the country's independence in 1991, the adoption of the new Constitution in 1994, introduction of a number of new bills and resolutions, etc. This collection, covering the minutes of the 12th Congress, includes 730 issues of published transcripts from the personal archives of Aleg Trusau, a well known Belarusian politician, historian and one of the leaders of the Belarusian Social-Democratic movement. Of special interest are transcripts of the speeches of A.G. Lukashenko.

Special Collections – Yugoslavia

Yugoslav Civil Wars: Printed Material, Transcripts and Ephemera from the British Library Collection

1991 - 1999

The collection on the Balkan Crisis is based on documents acquired from all sides directly involved in the Yugoslav Civil Wars, as well as from other sources. Comprised of more than 1,000 rare items, the collection includes material about: the wars in Croatia and Bosnia and Hercegovina, the crisis in Kosovo, the NATO bombing of Yugoslavia, war crimes, human rights abuses, refugees, the destruction of the national heritage of the Serbs, Croats and Bosnians, peace conferences, international diplomacy and more.

Includes printed guide

Yugoslav Statistics

1834 - 1919

Valuable raw materials for research into all aspects of the economic, social and political history of the predecessor territories to Yugoslavia available in a single organized collection for the first time. The socio-economic statistics collected by Balkan governments before 1918 long antedated the first appearance of statistical annuals and covered a wider range. Some of the serials go back to 1850 and before. Yugoslav Statistics brings together on microfiche over 300 annuals, serials, censuses and other publications for Croatia, Serbia, Montenegro and Bosnia published between 1834 and 1919. Materials have been drawn from the holdings of 12 institutions in the former Yugoslavia, Austria, the United States and Britain. Some are reproduced from previously little known sources for the first time.

Yugoslav Telephone Directories

1951 - 1999

Wars in the former Yugoslavia have forced nearly five million people from their homes since 1991. The massive displacement of populations over the past decade and the lack of reliable census data for much of the region have made "neutral" sources such as telephone directories an invaluable source of demographic data. Telephone books were located from the former Yugoslavia dating from 1951 to 1999.

Yugoslavia: Peoples, States and Society

1750 - 1969

This collection forms a unique body of primary research materials primarily on the history and culture of the Yugoslav peoples. There are more than 2,000 titles, most in Serbo-Croatian, published between the late 18th century and the early 1960s. The collection contains pamphlets and short monographs, which as an organized corpus of research material, are not available elsewhere, including Yugoslavia. The collection spans the medieval period through World War II and ranges from scholarly studies to essays, reminiscences and commentaries by some of the participants in the events which reflect the turbulent history of the lands which until recently comprised Yugoslavia and other Balkan states and their relations with Austria-Hungary and other European powers. The major categories in this collection are:

- Regional Histories
- Balkan Wars, World War I & the South Slavs
- Interwar Yugoslavia
- World War II

Accompanied by author, title and category indexes, including reel guide. Analytic cataloging is available in OCLC. Includes author, title and category indexes and printed guide; Compiled, arranged and indexed by staff of the University Library at the University of California, Los Angeles

Communist Pamphlets

1907 - 1982

Like most radical political groups, the Communist Party of the United States relied heavily of pamphlets both to educate members about its policies and to present its views to the general public. The Party and its front organizations issued thousands of pamphlets on every conceivable topic ranging from Communist relations with the church and interpretations of American history to transcripts of meetings of the Communist International and accounts of what a Soviet America would look like. Some pamphlets were produced to rally activists for a particular protest demonstration; others contained important theoretical pronouncements from Soviet leaders. The Labadie Collection contains a remarkably rich and varied selection of Communist pamphlets now reproduced on microfiche, making available to all scholars of radical political movements an invaluable primary research resource.

Eparkhial'nye vedomosti

1850 - 2000

Eparkhial'nye vedomosti were official publications of the Russian Orthodox Church, checked and sanctioned by authorities from the Holy Synod. Published in different Russian parishes in the second half of the 19th century and the beginning of the 20th century, the eparkhial'nye vedomosti appeared in magazine format and came out monthly or semimonthly. Like the gubernskie vedomosti, each eparkhial'nye vedomosti was divided into two parts, official and unofficial, with each part under separate editorship. In the official part of the eparkhial'nye vedomosti readers would find instructions from the Holy Synod and from local church authorities. The unofficial part contained such items as speeches, stories written by church representatives, and topics for sermons and lessons. One could also find articles on the history of the church district, information about temples and monasteries, news about the everyday life of the parish, biographies, obituaries and other information. These magazines are an invaluable source for research on religious literature and on the history of the Russian Orthodox Church, as well as for more general studies of Russian history. Many of the eparkhial'nye vedomosti contain very good indexes, making them especially useful to scholars. The best collection of eparkhial'nye vedomosti in the world is in the Russian National Library in St. Petersburg. The following titles are available:

- Iakutskie eparkhial'nye vedomosti, 1887-1919, 11 reels
- Vladimirskie eparkhial'nye vedomosti, 1865-1918; 54 reels

Gubernskie Vedomosti

1838 - 1920

The Gubernskie Vedomosti were pre-revolutionary local governmental newspapers published throughout the Russian Empire largely between 1838 and 1917 (although a few titles were issued through 1920.) The newspapers were also published in Ukraine, Belarus, Poland, Estonia, Latvia, Lithuania, Moldova, countries of the Caucasus and Central Asia. The Vedomosti were first published in 1838 in 42 cities by order of the tsar. By the beginning of the 20th century, more than 80 were being published. Sometimes the titles differed depending on whether they were oblastnye or voiskovye. Some were daily, other weekly, with print runs ranging from several hundred to several thousand copies. Each newspaper consisted of two sections: official and non-official. The official part published governors' orders and instructions, information on new taxes, court cases, etc. The non-official section was much larger, featuring a variety of information on current local events, plants and factories, sales and market prices, agriculture, transportation, the activity of specific societies, hospitals, educational institutions, libraries, etc. Educational articles on history, geography and economics were also included. In addition, everything from weather forecasts to advertisements could be found here including, on occasion, reprinted material such as diaries, archival documents, biographies and folklore. Although the non-official sections of these newspapers were originally apolitical, over the years editors began to introduce more and more political material, so that eventually they carried a great deal of information about political events.

Human Rights Watch Publications

1980 - 2008

Founded in 1978, Human Rights Watch is dedicated to protecting the rights of individuals worldwide. The organization conducts regular, systematic investigations of human rights abuses in approximately 70 countries and produces a wealth of timely publications documenting these crimes. Since it began publishing reports in 1980, Human Rights Watch has produced more than 1,200 publications, covering over 100 countries and ranging from 6-page, country-specific investigations to the comprehensive Human Rights Watch Annual Report and longer reports of 900 pages. All of these publications are now available on microfiche. The HRW microfiche collection is available on a year-of-publication basis.

Human Rights Watch publications contain information not available from any other source, covering many of the most significant issues of our times. They are relied upon by citizens' organizations, policymakers, the press, the academic community and concerned individuals worldwide. Libraries and their patrons will find the microfiche edition of the Human Rights Watch 1980-2008 publications to be an invaluable resource.

Ongoing supplements will be added to the Alternative Press collection on a yearly basis.

Society of Antiquaries of London Heraldic Manuscripts

1301 - 1800

Founded in 1717, the Society of Antiquaries of London received its Royal Charter from King George II in 1751, making it the second oldest of the Royal Societies. Heraldic studies have always been among the Society's interests and many members of the College of Arms have been and are numbered among the fellowship. By 1816, the Society already owned several important heraldic books and rolls, including the 15th century copy of Charles' Roll (now MS.517), the miscellany MS.136 and several others, including the Illyrian armorial c.1600, a finely painted major source for early Balkan heraldry. The holdings of continental heraldry were greatly increased when Sir Augustus Wollaston Franks bequeathed his library to the Society at the end of the 19th century. Further important acquisitions, mainly English rolls and books, were made in the 20th century, the most important being the greater part of the collection of heraldic material made by Dugdale and others in 1641. The collection contains a special selection of volumes and rolls totaling 36 items with many thousands of coats of arms covering a 500-year period. Among them are the arms of:

- Austrian
- Bosnian
- Croatian
- Dalmatian
- English
- German
- Serbian
- Spanish

With arms attributed to classical heroes and saints. Also included are selected examples of Dictionaries of Arms, family genealogies, a rare volume of South Slav heraldry and the Hatton-Dugdale facsimilies.

This literary journal in Yiddish and Russian has been in existence since 1961. From 1961-1991 it was published in the Soviet Union under the name of Sovetish Heimland. The journal published works of living Jewish writers, those who died in the war or as victims of Stalinist terror, Jewish literary classics, foreign writers, etc. Today, Di Idishe Gas still publishes literary pieces and articles, as well as historical materials. Religious issues are being discussed, which could not be done in the Soviet period. The journal is now a quarterly publication and its editorial board consists of writers from Russia, Moldova, Ukraine and Belarus.

UMI Dissertation Publishing

Soon after its founding in 1938, UMI became the publisher of record for U.S. doctoral dissertations. To this day, ProQuest fills that role for graduate students whose dissertations and masters theses have been accepted by accredited institutions throughout North America.

How UMI's Dissertation Program Works

Dissertations and theses available from ProQuest /UMI are used by researchers in all fields of study. The ProQuest /UMI dissertation product line – which consists of bibliographic data, indexing, access tools and the published documents themselves – is recognized worldwide because of its comprehensive coverage, high-quality information and rigorous editorial control.

The online ProQuest Dissertation & Theses Database (PQDT) catalogs over 2 million doctoral dissertations and master's theses, dating from the first U.S. dissertation in 1861. Thousands more are added yearly. Over one million dissertations and theses are available in full page image in microform and paper, both bound and unbound. Many are also available in digital format, for downloading over the Web. Dissertations can be located and ordered on a standing order basis or via:

- ProQuest Dissertations & Theses, which provides searching capabilities and online access to citations and abstracts for every title in the database. Titles published since 1997 are available in .PDF digital format and have citation and abstract, plus 24 page previews available. Dissertations can be purchased in print, microfiche or .pdf format.
- ProQuest Dissertation Express for both individuals and libraries. If you have a specific title in mind, Dissertation Express will let you look it up by title, author or publication number. Once you find it, you can place your order immediately via our online ordering system. Use this service when you know exactly which dissertation you need to order. Dissertations can be purchased in print, microfiche or .pdf format.
- DATRIX Direct – custom computerized search service (please see the DATRIX form enclosed in this document). This is an individualized search we perform for you based on your specific research topic.
- UMI Digital Archiving and Access Program - Ask your UMI representative about this new access and preservation service for institutions.

Direct to you Successful research depends on your sources. That's why if you're preparing to start a research project, it makes sense to first find out what's been written in your area of interest. You'll not only avoid duplicating someone else's work, you'll benefit from their research. | You could search the titles of over 1.6 million dissertations and master's theses yourself—if you have the time and patience. Or you can have DATRIX Direct conduct a dissertation search for you that's exhaustive, not exhausting.

Discover sources unique to your topic

DATRIX Direct is an individualized search that gives a one-of-a-kind listing of only those dissertation citations directly relevant to your specific research topic. The result is a computer printout of exactly the bibliographic citations you need. No more and no less. It could be as many as five hundred or as few as none (informing you that your research topic is totally unexplored).

Because it's a computerized search, DATRIX Direct is comprehensive—through UMI's vast computer database of over 1.6 million dissertations and master's theses dating back to 1861. And with thousands of citations being added to the database every month, DATRIX Direct is more up-to-date than any printed source. ■ Each citation includes a title, author, degree, date, institution, subject category, and order number, as well as where the abstract can be found in UMI's monthly publication Dissertation Abstracts International or the bi monthly Masters Abstracts International.

How to order your search To organize your search, complete both sides of the DATRIX Direct Search Request form and send it to UMI at the address shown. ■

The results of your DATRIX Direct search will be sent first-class mail and should arrive within two weeks of receipt of your order. For faster service, call us toll free at 800-521-3042; outside the U.S. and Canada, call 734-761-4700, ext. 7044.

SUBJECT CATEGORIES Dissertation Abstracts International is arranged by subject categories. These categories have been selected by the authors to identify their dissertations.

You must COMPLETE BOTH SIDES of this form!

DATRIX DIRECT SEARCH REQUEST The success of your search depends on how accurately and specifically you describe your research needs. The information you provide below will help us create a search strategy. Please type or clearly print in ink.

RESEARCH TOPIC Write the proposed title of your study or a summary of your research topic _____

DATABASE MATERIAL TO BE SEARCHED (Please check one)  Dissertations & master's theses  Dissertations only  Master's theses only

KEYWORDS UMI's dissertation database is accessed by a search for keywords in the dissertation title. The number of relevant citations retrieved depends largely on your keyword strategy. For best results, follow the procedure below:

- 1 Write 1 to 3 keywords from your research topic that might appear together in the dissertation titles in our database (e.g., "Nursing Burnout"). A keyword can also be numeric ("1990") or alphanumeric ("B12"). Only dissertation titles containing all the words you list on a single line can be retrieved.
- 2 To avoid having to list all possible word endings for a keyword, simply write the root word and an asterisk. One or more complete words must follow the root word on the same line (e.g., "Nurs*, Burnout" would search for words such as "nurse, nurses, and nursing" which appear in the same titles as "burnout").
- 3 Use the other lines for synonyms and alternate words and spellings (e.g., "RN; LPN; BSN").
- 4 Modify words likely to appear in hundreds of titles with more specific words.
- 5 If appropriate, use the right-hand column to list keywords that exclude data you don't want. (e.g., "Nurs*, Home*" and "Nurs*, Homes*" would exclude titles relating to nursing homes or home nursing. Note that the computer recognizes no word order.)
