About This Catalog

The Southeast Asian Studies Catalog of ProQuest microform contains 25 research collections and over 600 serials. Inside you will find titles related to Government, Religion, Literature, Education, Culture and History. This catalog also contains information on obtaining Dissertations on Southeast Asian Studies.

This catalog would be of particular interest to researchers in the fields of Asian Studies, Cultural Anthropology, Southeast Asian languages, International Studies, Political Science and Law.

One pivotal collection from this catalog is The History of the Vietnam War. This expansive collection is comprised of 21 years and 365,000 pages of previously classified U.S. Government documents, captured documents, prisoner-of-war interrogation reports and newspaper and periodical clippings from a variety of international sources. Douglas Pike, Director of the Indochina Archives at the University of California, collected all the materials through personal contacts and travels to Vietnam.

This preface provides a glimpse into the contents of the Southeast Asian Studies Catalog of ProQuest microform. Feel free to browse through our titles, or if you are looking for a particular research collection, please consult the table of contents. If you have any questions regarding any of our titles, please contact your ProQuest representative at umisalesinfo@proquest.com, 800.521.0600 ext. 2793 or 734.761.4700 ext. 2793.

The Advantages of Microform

Despite the continually developing array of digital technologies—and sometimes because of it—information professionals at libraries and universities worldwide still rely on microform. They know it is an archival medium that will meet the needs of researchers for years to come. Microform provides many advantages including:

- New Viewer/Scanners - Images can now be easily sent to remote locations using microform viewer/scanners, which link to your computer workstations, letting you view and print articles or digitize and transmit them electronically (within Fair Use guidelines). This approach combines the unparalleled preservation and storage benefits of microform with the speed and ease of electronic access.
- Special Collections - Microform is the answer if you need hard-to-find or specialty resources. Many older newspapers and periodicals are available only in microform, and it gives your users access to complete page images from historical titles—often from the first issue forward.
- Space Savings - Microform lets you store an extensive collection of complete article images in a small amount of space. Microform takes up less than one-tenth the area of bound copies of newspapers and periodicals.
- Ownership - There is no upkeep or access fees. It uses stable, proven technology you already have, with no need for new workstations or continual software upgrades.
- Clarity and Accuracy - Microform is the answer if you need cover-to-cover clarity and accuracy. Full-image articles are essential to getting the full story.
- Complete Collection - Microform usually is the best solution if you need a complete collection fast. Maybe you're seeking accreditation or even rebuilding after a disaster. An extensive, customized collection of retrospective and current microform titles will meet the needs of your researchers quickly and efficiently.
- Support for Specialized Studies - A compact collection in microform will meet specialized research needs and still leave plenty of resources for the rest of your population. Many libraries also use microform as an added point of access for content that is most in demand.
- Durability - archived properly, it can last for generations, and there is no degradation of images.
- ProQuest Quality - ProQuest's microform images are taken directly from the original printed pages, so you always get the clarity of first-generation copies.

ProQuest Microform is the answer because we've been producing it since 1938. We not only exceed industry standards, we set them. Our microform products include thousands of newspapers and periodicals, and hundreds of research collections, many of which are not available from any other source.

Asian Studies Conference Papers

Asia - a continent with a rich past and a vital recent history. For the past several decades, students and scholars worldwide have studied with great interest the growing influence of Asia on the world - economically, politically, and socially. Nearly 7,000 scholars worldwide participate in national and regional conferences focusing on the study of Asian life each year, presenting original research reports and findings on a variety of current and historical topics ranging from economics and political science to history and literature.

To make this research readily available to students and professionals, ProQuest has compiled conference proceedings on microfiche, including documents from the annual Bengal Studies Conference at Bucknell University. More than 60 papers have been compiled and filmed in this collection. Asian Studies Conference Papers is a valuable resource for students and practicing professionals in a variety of fields, including Asian and world history, economics, political science, sociology, and classic and modern Asian literature. The Catholic Church in Indonesia: Archives of the Archbishopric of Batavia/Jakarta*

1807 - 1949

In 1807 the Catholic Church founded an Apostolic Prefecture in Batavia, with the twin goals of bringing the faith to the inhabitants of the archipelago and providing pastoral care for the Catholics among the Dutch colonial population. The archive is particularly valuable in that it survived WWII intact and thus provides scholars with an uninterrupted century and a half of historical source materials.

Champignons du Tonkin

In a series of papers from 1890-1928, N.T. Patouillard described a number of species of fungi from Southeast Asia. These fungi were collected by missionaries, businessmen and scientists and now represent some of the few existing samples of higher fungus flora from this area. Together, the published descriptions, the previously unpublished illustrations and the illustrations in the Patouillard Herbarium provide a starting point for any work in Asian mycology. The articles and watercolour paintings are reproduced on monochrome and colour microfiche respectively.

Documentation Register to Colonial Subjects*

1819 - 1933

Originally compiled for the internal use of the civil servants of the Ministry of the Colonies of the Netherlands, this register may be compared to a modern documentation journal. It provides access to everything from the secret archives of the Ministry, to selected Mail Reports, Consular Correspondence, selected statistics from the Statistical Archives, articles in scholarly journals on colonial subjects and learned books and conference proceedings in Dutch, English, French and German.

The East Timor Question*

1975 - 1996

Claiming the support of the East Timorese population, the Indonesian government invaded the former Portuguese colony in December 1975 and later incorporated it as a province of Indonesia. During the last two decades there has been continued East Timorese resistance against the Indonesian government because of persistent human rights violations and systematic neocolonization. Australian journalist Jill Jolliffe has amassed a personal archive on the East Timor problem, containing many rare and unique materials originating from Portuguese, Indonesian, Australian, British, American and other international sources. Most materials date from the last twenty years, but there is also material from the late 19th century as well as the 1940s, 1950s and 1960s. A fascinating collection for all South Asian history researchers.

The Echols Collection: Selections on the Vietnam War

Each year following monsoon season in Vietnam, a harvest of unexploded ordinance appears in the countryside: M79 grenade rounds, flechette bombs and other lethal remnants of the war years. Even casual exploration can be fatal. Yet year after year, Vietnamese peasants continue to farm their fields in hopes of bringing new life to a war-ravaged land. The historical record of U.S. involvement in the Vietnam War can be compared to the ground on which it was fought. In spite of years of study, the topic is still considered explosive. Policies and motives of participants on all sides of the war have been obscured by "revisionist histories" of every political and ideological hue. Facts are contested and subject to change when new information appears. With the introduction of The Echols Collection: Selections on the Vietnam War, ProQuest brings together multiple historical and national perspectives with an eye toward providing better understanding of the Vietnam conflict.

With more than 5,000 volumes of books, monographs, speeches, pamphlets, manuscripts, serials and historical documents, Selections on the Vietnam War provides unique insight to students of 20th century American and Southeast Asian history, international and U.S. law, economics, political science, government, diplomacy, foreign policy and journalism. Selected from the vast holdings of the John M. Echols Collection at Cornell University (the premier North American source of material on Southeast Asia), the contents of this collection provide an incisive look at pre-war and wartime history as well as the long-term effects of the conflict in Southeast Asia and around the world. The collection contains a variety of political and social commentary, including views expressed by anti-war groups, pro-war factions, religious groups and governmental organizations worldwide. Rare U.S. and Vietnamese government reports, publications and research documents are also included. Readily accessible materials have been omitted. Selection criteria for the collection are based on the Vietnam War Bibliography by Christopher L. Sugnet and John T. Hickey. Included are 3,253 items in English and French (the latter focusing on the French colonial period) - propaganda, pamphlets, government documents, literary works, etc., from the 17th century Catholic missionaries to the fall of Saigon in 1975. Contents of the units are roughly as follows:

- Unit 5: The Kahin Collection; U.S. policy papers
- Unit 6: Thailand, English-language materials
- Unit 7: Colonial era, French-language materials

Great Britain Board of Trade/Overseas Department Economic Surveys

1921 - 1961

These economic surveys of foreign countries published under the aegis of the Board of Trade have a virtue rare in government publications - they are concise and to the point. Written by the Commercial Secretary in the British Embassy or Consulate in the country in question, each report provides a narrative account of the country's economic, financial and trading situation backed by tables of detailed statistics. The statistical information is of particular interest since much of it came from local government sources and was not necessarily published elsewhere.

The History of the Vietnam War

'The History of the Vietnam War...is of inestimable value for primary source research for graduate contemporary history, political science, and programs of international study. It also holds much potential for graduate and undergraduate level studies in cultural anthropology... [and] European colonial history.'

~ Microform Review

Not since the Civil War has a conflict so divided the American public. The Vietnam War is the most political, controversial war ever recorded in American military history. Even today, years after the withdrawal of U.S. troops, researchers strive to separate fact from fiction. The History of the Vietnam War provides a comprehensive and systematically organized collection of material on this series of events. All aspects of the war are covered in this collection - from the Viet Cong and the Ho Chi Minh Trail in Southeast Asia to the campuses and political forums in the U.S. Conflicting perceptions about the nature, course, and purpose of the war are represented. The collection spans 21 years and includes 365,000 pages of materials. Contents include: unclassified and declassified U.S. Government documents and reports; captured documents; transcripts of interviews with defectors; prisoner of war interrogation reports; newspaper and periodical clippings from American, Vietnamese, Asian, and European English-language publications; media monitoring documents from the Foreign Broadcast Information Service (FBIS) and the Department of Commerce Joint Publications Research Service (JPRS); scholarly monographs and studies; transcripts of speeches and press conferences by leaders on both sides; un-copyrighted books; monographs and similar published source materials; propaganda leaflets and similar materials published by both sides; and a number of unpublished book-length manuscripts chiefly by Vietnamese writers.

Human Relations Area Files

Human Relations Area Files, Inc. (HRAF) is an internationally recognized organization in the field of cultural anthropology. Established as a not-for-profit membership consortium of universities, colleges and research institutions, HRAF's mission is to provide information that facilitates the cross-cultural study of human behavior, society and culture. HRAF grew out of work in the 1930s by behavioral scientists at the Yale University Institute of Human Relations who began development of a classification scheme for cultural information by subject. The Human Relations Area Files was incorporated in 1949 with Harvard University, the University of Oklahoma, the University of Pennsylvania, the University of Washington and Yale University as its founding members. These five were joined within the year by the University of Chicago, the University of North Carolina and the University of Southern California. Some 300 colleges, universities, libraries, museums and research institutions in the United States and 25 other countries are now Associate or Sponsoring Members.

HRAF is a financially independent research agency of Yale University in New Haven, Connecticut. Since World War II, the growing concern of students, scholars and the general public around the world to understand ethnic conflict, cultural diversity and global problems has generated a demand for educational and research programs emphasizing the worldwide, comparative study of human behavior and society. The development of cross-cultural and area studies requires an extensive body of readily available organized cultural information. Scattered among myriad journals, dissertations and fieldwork studies and across numerous disciplines, conventional sources of such information are often inaccessible, expensive and difficult to utilize effectively. The HRAF collections are specifically designed to lessen these barriers to cross-cultural research.

Only members of HRAF can acquire access to HRAF collections. Thus individuals or institutions (colleges, universities, public libraries, museums, high schools, etc.) must first become members of the HRAF consortium before they can acquire microfiche. All applicants must be approved by the Board of HRAF. However, virtually all applicants are accepted.

- Selected Sample File Set

HRAF has created the Selected Sample File Set (also known as the Probability Sample Files), a specially selected group of 60 representative cultures from around the world, to enable global comparative studies when an institution is not able to acquire the complete collection. The materials in these files touch upon virtually all of the areas of social and cultural life of most interest to scholars and students. Each of the cultures in the Sample Set represents a different cultural area.

Images of East and West: Maps, Plans, Views and Drawings from Dutch Colonial Archives*

1583 - 1963

At the end of the 16th century, Dutch seafarers and merchants burst onto the world stage with commercial and military operations that took them to the far corners of the globe. Within a relatively short time, the tiny country on the North Sea had acquired a far-flung "seaborne empire" extending from the coasts of Western and South Africa to the Persian Gulf, South Asia and the islands of the Indonesian archipelago. The founding of the United Dutch East India Company (VOC) in 1602 was pivotal to this effort. From the beginning, the VOC realized the importance of accurate maps and plans of the areas under their control and the sea and coastal routes that gave access to these territories.

Index to Colonial Subjects in Dutch Newspapers*

1843 - 1947

Like its counterpart below, this index in handwritten form was compiled by civil servants of the former Ministry of the Colonies of The Netherlands for the use of the Minister and his staff. Only one copy exists. From over 40 Dutch newspapers the articles on colonial subjects were selected and indexed, mainly concerning the Dutch East and West Indies, but also concerning other colonial powers and Asian nations. The index was kept annually and in this micropublication each year starts on a new microfiche, containing the key words from A-Z for that year. These alphabetically-ordered key words (in Dutch) are geographical names, personal names and subject terms and they refer to one-line descriptions of the contents of an article in a newspaper, with the date of publication.

Memoranda of Conveyance (Memories van Overgave) of Officials of the Dutch East Indies *

1849 - 1962

Starting in 1849, the government of The Netherlands ordered all of their civil servants leaving office in the East Indies Colony to write a memorandum of conveyance for their successors, containing a careful review of political developments in the district concerned and also giving background details on places, persons and issues important for the successor to know about. This has served as an important reference source for historians and other students of Indonesia in the colonial period.

The National Security Archive

1939 - present

'All of us who have a professional interest in contemporary security and foreign policy issues can only rejoice at the appearance of this new institutional resource.'

~ Gary Sick, Adjunct Professor of Middle East Politics, Columbia University

Previously classified documents on major foreign policy issues from the State Department and other federal agencies arranged by subject set on microfiche. For several years the National Security Archive, a non-profit research institute, has been working to locate, have declassified, organize and index government documents on key areas of U.S. policymaking. Through systematic document searching, sophisticated use of the Freedom of Information Act and computer based cataloging, the Archive has developed an unmatched collection of primary materials indispensable for research and public debate.

- U.S. Policy in the Vietnam War, Part I, 1954-1968

This collection documents the deadliest conflict in modern U.S. history prior to the current war against terrorism. The goal was to assemble both classic and relatively well-known documentary sources as well as the most recent declassified materials, making a single comprehensive resource for primary substantive research on the Vietnam conflict. The set consists primarily of documents from the White House, National Security Council, State Department, Defense Department, and other federal agencies involved in policy-making on the war in Southeast Asia. It also features detailed reporting from the field as well as analysis from the Central Intelligence Agency, the Defense Intelligence Agency, American embassies overseas, U.S. regional military commands, especially the Military Assistance Command Vietnam (MACV), and the uniformed military services. There are also certain documents from foreign sources, including the governments of South Vietnam, North Vietnam, the Soviet Union, China, the United Kingdom, and others. Additional documentation, including diplomatic documents from the governments of Sweden, Hungary, and Poland, and other material, is available for research on the premises of the National Security Archive.

- U.S. Policy in the Vietnam War, Part II, 1969-1975

This collection had its origins in the National Security Archive's interest in documenting the deadliest conflict in modern U.S. history. The goal was to create a collection presenting classic sources, relatively well-known documentary information, and the most recently declassified materials to produce a comprehensive resource for primary substantive research on the Vietnam conflict. Part II of this collection presents the first major selection of Vietnam War primary source documents from the Nixon and Ford administrations to be made directly available to scholars. There are important materials in every subset: "Pacification/Phoenix" subset materials highlight one of the most controversial programs of the Vietnam era; the collection also features the Nixon administration's deliberations on withdrawals from South Vietnam, the 1970 invasion of Cambodia, and the best available sources on the final peace talks and the "Christmas Bombing." The "Fall of South Vietnam" subset contains detailed coverage on the end of the Saigon government and the Vietnam War. Along with important CIA interpretive materials, there is a separate index to the Gravel Pentagon Papers, as well as the fully declassified diplomatic volumes of the Pentagon Papers. These and other materials are available for research on the premises of the National Security Archive.

Public Record Office: Foreign Office Registers and Indexes of Correspondence

1793 - 1919

The only means of access to the correspondence and dispatches of the Foreign Office is through the contemporary handwritten Registers in the Reference Room of the Public Record Office. The correspondents were statesmen, ambassadors, consuls, spies, British travellers abroad and foreign citizens from every part of the world. This consular reporting and intelligence gathering system provides what is often the only consistent series of reports in existence on the political and economic history of many countries. Three sets of Foreign Office Registers have been published on microfiche together with the contemporary indexes. Since documents listed in the Registers cannot be identified and retrieved without their Class List numbers the relevant Class List number has been added to each microfiche. Researchers are generally interested in the diplomatic correspondence with a particular country. The Registers and Indexes have been published in the following groups of countries.

Please inquire about additional subsets; The P.R.O. Foreign Office Registers are part of NIDS-UK and Ireland, but are supplied as a separate series; They do not form part of a subscription to NIDS

Resolutions of the Heren Zeventien of the Dutch East India Company*

1601 - 1796

The resolutions of the Seventeen Gentlemen, the highest governing body of the Dutch East India Company (VOC), form one of the most important sources for knowledge about the Company as an international business. The Heren Zeventien normally sat twice each year, during the periods in which ships arrived from or departed to Asia. Because the Heren Zeventien were the Company's highest governing body, their resolutions are in many cases a good starting point for research into the history of colonial/trade relations between the Dutch Republic and the area around the Indian Ocean, including such countries as Indonesia, India, Sri Lanka, Bangladesh, Burma, Thailand, Malaysia, Cambodia, Vietnam, Taiwan, China and Japan.

Sources for the Culture and Ethnology of Netherlands New Guinea (Irian Jaya) in the Colonial Period: The Archive of the Office of Population Affairs, Hollandia*

1951 - 1962

The Kantoor voor bevolkingszaken (Office of Population Affairs) was set up by the Dutch authorities in Hollandia (now Jayapura) in 1951 to study the ethnological, socio-economic and linguistic situation of the indigenous population of Netherlands New Guinea. Most of the material is in Dutch, but there are also items in Indonesian and English. The collection is organized geographically by district.

Sources for the Study of Colonial Indonesia and Dutch Colonial Policy: From VOC to Colonial State*

c.1700 - 1850

By the end of the 17th century, the Dutch had been involved in Indonesia for nearly 200 years and yet their presence there remained limited geographically and precarious politically. During the following century, however, they established the basis of a colonial state and initiated the expansion that brought almost the entire archipelago under their control by the first decade of the 20th century. The archives of four prominent officials active during this period of expansion constitute this collection.

War and Decolonization in Indonesia *

1940 - 1950

At the end of WWII the independent Republic of Indonesia was proclaimed by Sukarno and Hatta, but the Dutch government - having held the colony for some 350 years - was unwilling to grant Indonesia independence. Thus began over four years of unrest and civil war, increasing intervention by the international community and finally the transfer of sovereignty to the Republic in 1949. Now many of the archives of leading figures and bodies on the Dutch side are being opened and this series makes such papers available on microfiche.

UMI Dissertation Publishing

Soon after its founding in 1938, UMI became the publisher of record for U.S. doctoral dissertations. To this day, ProQuest fills that role for graduate students whose dissertations and masters theses have been accepted by accredited institutions throughout North America.

How UMI's Dissertation Program Works

Dissertations and theses available from ProQuest /UMI are used by researchers in all fields of study. The ProQuest /UMI dissertation product line – which consists of bibliographic data, indexing, access tools and the published documents themselves – is recognized worldwide because of its comprehensive coverage, high-quality information and rigorous editorial control.

The online ProQuest Dissertation & Theses Database (PQDT) catalogs over 2 million doctoral dissertations and master's theses, dating from the first U.S. dissertation in 1861. Thousands more are added yearly. Over one million dissertations and theses are available in full page image in microform and paper, both bound and unbound. Many are also available in digital format, for downloading over the Web. Dissertations can be located and ordered on a standing order basis or via:

- ProQuest Dissertations & Theses, which provides searching capabilities and online access to citations and abstracts for every title in the database. Titles published since 1997 are available in .PDF digital format and have citation and abstract, plus 24 page previews available. Dissertations can be purchased in print, microfiche or .pdf format.
- ProQuest Dissertation Express for both individuals and libraries. If you have a specific title in mind, Dissertation Express will let you look it up by title, author or publication number. Once you find it, you can place your order immediately via our online ordering system. Use this service when you know exactly which dissertation you need to order. Dissertations can be purchased in print, microfiche or .pdf format.
- DATRIX Direct – custom computerized search service (please see the DATRIX form enclosed in this document). This is an individualized search we perform for you based on your specific research topic.
- UMI Digital Archiving and Access Program - Ask your UMI representative about this new access and preservation service for institutions.

Direct to you Successful research depends on your sources. That's why if you're preparing to start a research project, it makes sense to first find out what's been written in your area of interest. You'll not only avoid duplicating someone else's work, you'll benefit from their research. | You could search the titles of over 1.6 million dissertations and master's theses yourself—if you have the time and patience. Or you can have DATRIX Direct conduct a dissertation search for you that's exhaustive, not exhausting.

Discover sources unique to your topic

DATRIX Direct is an individualized search that gives a one-of-a-kind listing of only those dissertation citations directly relevant to your specific research topic. The result is a computer printout of exactly the bibliographic citations you need. No more and no less. It could be as many as five hundred or as few as none (informing you that your research topic is totally unexplored).

Because it's a computerized search, DATRIX Direct is comprehensive—through UMI's vast computer database of over 1.6 million dissertations and master's theses dating back to 1861. And with thousands of citations being added to the database every month, DATRIX Direct is more up-to-date than any printed source. ■ Each citation includes a title, author, degree, date, institution, subject category, and order number, as well as where the abstract can be found in UMI's monthly publication Dissertation Abstracts International or the bi monthly Masters Abstracts International.

How to order your search To organize your search, complete both sides of the DATRIX Direct Search Request form and send it to UMI at the address shown. ■

The results of your DATRIX Direct search will be sent first-class mail and should arrive within two weeks of receipt of your order. For faster service, call us toll free at 800-521-3042; outside the U.S. and Canada, call 734-761-4700, ext. 7044.

SUBJECT CATEGORIES Dissertation Abstracts International is arranged by subject categories. These categories have been selected by the authors to identify their dissertations.

DATABASE MATERIAL TO BE SEARCHED (Please check one.) Dissertations & master's theses Dissertations only Master's theses only

KEYWORDS UMI's dissertation database is accessed by a search for keywords in the dissertation title. The number of relevant citations retrieved depends largely on your keyword strategy. For best results, follow the procedure below:

1 Write 1 to 3 keywords from your research topic that might appear together in the dissertation titles in our database (e.g., "Nursing Burnout"). A keyword can also be numeric ("1980") or alphanumeric ("B12"). Only dissertation titles containing all the words you list on a single line can be retrieved.

2 To avoid having to list all possible word endings for a keyword, simply write the root word and an asterisk. One or more complete words must follow the root word on the same line (e.g., "Nurs*, Burnout" would search for words such as "nurse, nurses, and nursing" which appear in the same titles as "burnout").

3 Use the other lines for synonyms and alternate words and spellings (e.g., "RN; LPN; BSN").

4 Modify words likely to appear in hundreds of titles with more specific words.

5 If appropriate, use the right-hand column to list keywords that exclude data you don't want. (e.g., "Nurs*, Home*" and "Nurs*, Homes*" would exclude titles relating to nursing homes or home nursing. Note that the computer recognizes no word order.)

DEGREE DATES (optional) You may narrow the database search to certain years or time periods (e.g., "1980 through 1983"). This is especially recommended for broad categories such as "Education, Administrative", for which nearly 1,200 titles are added each year.

INSTITUTIONS AWARDING DEGREES (optional) You may restrict the search to dissertations and master's theses prepared for specific institutions (e.g., "New York University and UCLA").
